In an obscure West Virginia coal mine for about two dollars a day. That's the latest publicity story written about Mr. Dempsey, the young gentleman who will attempt to again regain control of the heavyweight situation a week from Thursday when he meets Champion Gene Tunney at Chicago.

The man who will probably draw down something like $50,000 for such a fight, 30 minutes of action on that date, was once about the poorest paid workman in America. A payroll sheet discovered in the files of the Gay and Clark Co. with headquarters at Gay W. 14 reveals that Dempsey earned exactly $17.76 for 35 days labor in the Gay mines during the last half of December, 1919.

For Dempsey, a son of coal lack received 18 cents a day. He dumps, Gene Tunney, who weighs considerably less than one-fourth of a ton, can train him to expect that Jack will have eventually added another million dollars to his income.

WHAT MODERN PAVEMENT MUST BE—

the very things that make brick-surfaced pavement cheapest of all

You must have, first, good pavement base—concrete, macadam, or old paving. Over this must be a cushion of sand. On top a wearing surface so tough it can't be worn out; flexible enough to stand traffic shocks and natural contraction and expansion; water-tight and weather-proof.

Such pavement "body"—base and surface—will stand up under any traffic, present or future. A brick surface, laid on such a base and bound with asphalt, has the needed resilience or "give" and it is water-tight; absorbs no water; permits none to enter, freeze, expand and destroy. It never softens under heat, never undergoes any chemical change—either in laying or after laid.

And since the tough, dense surface simply can't be worn out, brick surface gives a pavement which, thousands of records prove, is the cheapest known!

*The A. B. C. of Good Paving is a treatise on the art and science of paving. It is a must for every engineer, contractor, or owner. It is available for sale at a special price of $1.00 per copy. Write for it today.

Peter's Adventures

The Star's Daily Story for Boys and Girls
By FLORENCE VINCENT

IN THE BEGINNING
 JACK IN THE BOX, scolded himself comfortably by Peter's side, peered his head upon the ground and for a moment was an old that the thought he, too, was going to take a nap.

What has become of the "old maid"?

YOU know the girl we mean. She wasn't precisely old. But you couldn't call her young, either.

She did her hair and wore her clothes just as they used to years back when she was still in high school. Prim and staid as a little Jenny. When she looked decent and durable and respectable—but not a bit attractive, not a bit lovable!

Her ideas were old, too.

And her ideas were as out of date as her funny, old-fashioned frocks and bonnets! She was always getting shocked at the harmless but, perhaps, noisy vagaries of the rising generation. Poor thing! She was just anywhere from five to fifteen years behind the procession!

Not a mite of reason for it, either! Being an old maid isn't a matter of age. It's a state of mind. A closed, backward-looking, hopeless state of mind!

Girls today love Youth!

Girls nowadays don't let themselves get that way. They love interesting new things! They love beauty! They love Youth!

And they love all the foolish, graceful, exquisite things that keep them young and lovely! Gay French prints; batik scarfs, ear-rings of apple-green jade; Spanish shawls . . . charming things that make you look more attractive, of course. But they do something for you, besides, that's a thousand times more important; they make you feel more charming!—As if you could carry everything before you. The way every woman has a right to feel. Just lovely and happy and young!

Camay—new! Exquisite!

Just to fit into the modern woman's scheme of things we've made Camay. Camay—the new white luxury soap for face and hands! A soap so lovely, that wherever it goes, the approval of beauty-loving modern girls makes it most popular among all white fragrant soaps!

This delightful new soap, Camay, is made from the precious essences of the world's finest oils. It gives your skin such a delightfully refreshed feeling. Its willing lather is like white, thick-piled velvet,—the bubbles are so fine and rich. And, oh, how long the graceful, white cake lasts!

Fragrance sweet as Youth

It smells the way you like your soap to smell—faintly sweet, and fresh and clean, with the fragrance of Youth, of "all young, sweetly flowering things!"

And it looks the way you like your toilet soap to look, alabaster-white, and smooth, moulded to the slender hollow of your hands.

Altogether Camay is so charming that you'll want to try it—soon! If you wish a free cake, simply send your request with your name and address to The Pycter & Gamble Co., Dept. T, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Otherwise look for Camay's dainty wrapper on your grocer's shelf of fine toilet soaps, at your druggist's or your department store. For a cake, a low price for a fragrant soap as exquisite as Camay.

CAMAY—why this sweeping triumph?

The makers of Camay have produced for you the soap that is the most popular in America. In Camay they offer you a white fragrant soap, a soap so lovely that, wherever it goes, it wins instant triumph. How do they make it?

From Ceylon, from Java, from India, indeed, from every continent except Australia the makers of Camay gather the choicest tea and oils. By delicate processes which they alone thoroughly understand they extract the cream or essence of these oils. These essences cannot be bought—they can only be created.

These precious essences they blend to make Camay. With the softest of soaps, the finest of whiteners, Camay looks in part—the soap Youth has chosen for her very own. For a cake—far less than you would expect to pay for a fragrant soap so exquisite.
